Why Canton Requires Strong Pest Infrastructure

Canton has structural and environmental conditions that support persistent pest cycles.

Key factors:

- Older residential infrastructure
- Basement-heavy housing stock
- Moist soil conditions
- Industrial & warehouse zones
- Dense apartment complexes
- Seasonal humidity variation
- Proximity to agricultural land

These conditions create recurring infestations of rodents, termites, cockroaches, ants, bed bugs, and stinging insects.

Most residents search when:

- They see droppings
- They hear movement in walls
- They notice damaged wood
- They experience bites
- They detect visible colonies

We respond with structured inspection and targeted elimination.
